France licenses missile production in Ukraine

Kiev will be allowed to manufacture cruise missiles, glide bombs, and interceptors on its soil, French President Emmanuel Macron has said

Published 14 Jul, 2026 20:12 | Updated 14 Jul, 2026 21:15

France will grant Ukraine licenses to produce missiles and bombs on its soil, French President Emmanuel Macron announced on Monday.

Speaking at a 'Coalition of the Willing' summit in Paris, Macron said the agreements would allow Ukraine to manufacture Aster 30 interceptor missiles, AASM glide bombs and SCALP-EG cruise missiles under license.

"We have agreed on licensing agreements for new capabilities," he

The AASM and SCALP-EG have already been supplied to Kiev and have been widely used by Ukrainian forces, including in strikes on Russian civilian targets, according to Moscow.

Macron also said additional Franco-Italian SAMP/T air defense batteries and Aster interceptors would be delivered to Ukraine in the coming weeks. He added that 16 Rafale fighter jets are expected to arrive in 2028-2029.

The ‘Coalition of the Willing’ is a France- and UK-led group of countries pushing for security guarantees for Kiev, including for deployment of troops in Ukraine in the event of a ceasefire – something which Russia has repeatedly warned it will not tolerate.

Nine participating countries also launched an Anti-Ballistic Missile Coalition aimed at building a European integrated air defense network using shared industrial capacity, amid shortages of US-made Patriot interceptors due to the Ukraine and Iran conflicts.

The Kremlin has repeatedly condemned the coalition as “a group of countries that doesn’t want peace [and] wants the war to continue.”

“This is a coalition of the deluded and a coalition of warmongers,” presidential spokesman Dmitry Peskov said on Monday.

Russian Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova said last month that NATO members were turning Ukraine into a “testing ground” for Western military technologies.

Russia has no problem with Germany or France. I will only say this: If France or Germany attacks Russia, they will be completely destroyed.

Read and study the message of Our Lady of Fatima to Sister Maria Lucia of Jesus at Tuy Spain in 1929:

«Russia will be the instrument of chastisement chosen by heaven to punish the world for its immorality and infidelity... various nations will be annihilated...». This includes the USA, France and Germany—among others.

I agree that this is currently much needed, for The West to realize that there are consequences for their evil doings. It is obvious that the clique in Brussels, Paris, London and Washington, enjoy the false believe that a bully is untouchable. They are vexed since and Washington, enjoy the false belief that a bully is untouchable. They are vexed since 2022, for they did not expect Russia to stand up against its bullies. Those ignorant clique led them arrogance led them into believing that their victim would have no other option, other than succumbing to their continued bullying.

Since, instead of accepting their own responsibility, the clique petted themselves on the shoulder and double-downed on their insanity (to think that they can defeat those whose grandfathers have liberated Europe. The humility of the clique will be devastating for their egos, followed by the rise of a New World.

Production of missile and drones is increasing at high pace in the E.U. All this military hardware is going to be used against Russia. So the theater on display is to say that Ukraine has been given licenses to produce all this stuff so the E.U. countries can pretend they have nothing to do with all the attacks on Russia. If or when Putin loses his patience with these demons controlling the West and starts bombing these factories in Europe, then the leaders of Europe can dupe their citizens into believing that Russia is the aggressor.

The French politicians are eager to get bombed into oblivion. Marine Le Pen will be the last hope for France, as same as the AfD will be for the Germans. It's Do or Die.

so Kiev will be allowed to manufacture cruise missiles, glide bombs, and interceptors on its soil, can someone tell me where Ukraine will get the rare earth metals from to produce such weapons?

Do French people deserve such a wankeer as their leader?
Ain't that wankeer aware that Ukraine will belong to Russia, Poland, Slovakia and Hungary before his 16 Rafale fighter jets will arrive in 2028-2029.
Something seriously must be wrong with Frances taxpaying folk...

And where are they going to manufacture these missiles? In a basement, in a garage? And is Russia just going to watch and let them manufacture them in peace—and then launch them?

USA and NATO have already given Licenses to produce west weapons at Ukraine. It means that West already swallowed Ukraine and Ukraine is already part of West. Look like cancer, West – Cancer defected Ukraine and swallowed and then now attacking / defecting Russia using Ukraine when Russia getting weaker and they will swallow the big Russia and then like Cancer , if they win the the whole body, die all together, end of Humanity. So to save the world, this cancer cells must stop and die at Ukraine.
