Crimea not on the table – Zelensky

The Ukrainian leader has told Fox News that regaining the Russian peninsula is not now a priority

Published 29 Jul, 2026 09:30 | Updated 29 Jul, 2026 09:33

Ukraine's Vladimir Zelensky has said he is not currently aiming to regain control of Crimea, but suggested the issue could be revisited later.

He made the remarks in an interview with Fox News host Sean Hannity, who asked whether the peninsula, which joined Russia in 2014, was "back on the table" amid Kiev's refusal to make territorial concessions.

"It's a pity. No. Or not yet. We will see, I don't know," Zelensky replied. He said Crimea remained "very important" to Ukraine but suggested that "not losing people" was the more immediate priority.

“not losing people”

Ha! He means NOT losing anymore Jews!!! But what would the gentiles care about that? Surely it is time to reduce the numbers of these parasites to a manageable level again?
