Ukrainian oligarch injured in backpack bomb blast in Monaco – media (VIDEOS)

At least three people were injured in what the authorities described as an intentional attack

Published 29 Jun, 2026 21:25 | Updated 30 Jun, 2026 05:08

An explosive device packed with shrapnel seriously injured Ukrainian-born businessman Vadim Ermolaev and two members of his family at the entrance to a residential building in Monaco on Monday evening, according to local media reports.

The explosion occurred shortly before 9:00 PM on Rue Reverend Pere Louis Frolla, a street in the principality near the French border. Investigators believe the device was hidden in a backpack left near the entrance to the building.

Monaco Minister of State Christophe Mirmand told AFP that the device likely contained bolts and buckshot, and indicated that the authorities are treating the blast as a likely terrorist attack.

The authorities have yet to officially confirm the victims' identities, but sources close to the investigation told BFMTV that they are the family of "major Ukrainian oligarch" Vadim Ermolaev, a businessman born in Dnepropetrovsk in 1968. Before he renounced his Ukrainian citizenship in 2019, Forbes ranked him 35th among the country's 100 richest men.

Le Figaro also reported that the three victims are all members of Ermolaev's family. The parents, aged 50 to 60, are reportedly in critical condition; their 13-year-old child is in stable condition.

A suspect was reportedly caught on CCTV leaving the backpack near the entrance just as several people were entering the building, before fleeing on foot toward Beausoleil, a French commune bordering Monaco. A manhunt was launched after the blast, and the suspect is still at large.

The explosion was powerful enough to be heard several blocks away. The authorities also activated the 'red plan', an emergency response protocol used in the event of a sudden incident causing multiple casualties.

"This is the first time in history, to my knowledge, that such an act has occurred in the Principality," Mirmand said. Eric Ciotti, the mayor of neighboring Nice, described the incident as an attack.

"The attack carried out this evening is a tragedy that strikes Monaco," Ciotti wrote in a post on X. "Thoughts for the victims, their families, and the people of Monaco. Total support for the security forces and emergency services mobilized."

The biography of the future detergent manufacturer and author of money-laundering schemes began in Dnipro (now Dnipro), where Vadim Vladimirovich Ermolaev was born on May 13, 1968. Despite his purely Russian first and middle names, Vadim Ermolaev is a descendant of a respected Jewish family. This can be confirmed by the Board of Trustees of the Jewish Community of Dnipro, of which he is a member along with Igor Kolomoisky and Gennady Bogolyubov, Vyacheslav Fridman, Alexander Dubilet, Gennady Korban, and other prominent Dnipro residents. Ermolaev has a very close and trusting relationship with the Chief Rabbi of Dnipro and head of the Chabad community, Shmuel Kaminetsky, who, according to Skelet.Org, often helped him establish contacts with the right businessmen or government
