

QUESTION MORE

⚡ Ukraine cannot defeat Russia – ex-UK defense chief | Russia-Ukraine conflict

LIVE

19 Oct, 2025 16:10 / Home / World News

Trump shares AI video of himself bombing 'No Kings' protesters with feces

The US president has shot back on Truth Social at the massive anti-government demonstrations taking place across the country

© X / xerias_x

US President Donald Trump has mocked the 'No Kings' protests, sharing several AI-generated videos on Truth Social, including footage of himself dumping what appears to be feces on the crowds.

A wave of protests against the Trump administration hit the US on Saturday, with massive demonstrations held at more than 2,500 locations across the country.

Protesters accuse the president of abusing his power and undermining democracy, as well as condemning his crackdown on illegal immigrants and deploying the military to American cities on the pretext of fighting rampant crime.

Trump responded by sharing AI-generated videos on social

Top stories

Putin-Trump summit to be historic – European leader

Trump releases footage of US Navy destroying 'very large' sub (VIDEO)

UK wants Gaza-style peace plan for Ukraine – Axios

Jewish Film Festival denied venues in European city

Anti-Trump 'No Kings' protests held in US cities (VIDEOS)

IMF pushes Kiev to weaken currency – Bloomberg

Russia among top options for Sudan energy sector rebuild – minister EXCLUSIVE

Putin aide accuses WaPo of 'truth distortion' media, including footage originally posted by Xerias, a prolific pro-Trump X account that creates AI-generated meme content.

×
?

Privacy Badger has replaced this X \(Twitter\) widget

Allow once

Always allow on this site

One of the videos shows the president piloting a 'King Trump' warplane that dumps feces on the protesters. It incorporates actual footage posted from the protest in New York by left-wing influencer Harry Sisson, who ends up covered in AI feces.

Another video shared by Trump and originally posted by Vice President J.D. Vance features Trump putting on a crown and cloak before unsheathing a sword.

×
?

Privacy Badger has replaced this X \(Twitter\) widget

Allow once

Always allow on this site

The clip ends with prominent Democratic lawmakers, including former House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer, kneeling before the president – an apparent reference to a 2020 photo-op in which they honored George Floyd.

READ MORE: Anti-Trump 'No Kings' protests held in US cities (VIDEOS)

Trump's posts received a mixed response, with supporters actively sharing the meme videos, and critics such as Democratic Senator Brian Schatz condemning the videos.

Subscribe to RT newsletter to get news highlights of the day right in your mailbox

We offer you the possibility to receive RT's news highlights every Monday, Wednesday and Friday by email.

Subscribe

RT Features

The multipolar revolution you missed: The alliance everyone forgot is shaping Eurasia's future FEATURE

Addicts, mullahs, and meth: Inside Afghanistan's harsh war on drugs FEATURE

"Why would the President post an image on the Internet of airdropping feces on American cities?" he wrote on X.

Sisson reacted early Sunday on X to the video in which he was featured: "Can a reporter please ask Trump why he posted an AI video of himself dropping poop on me from a fighter jet?"

You can share this story on social media:

Donald Trump, US

Dear readers! Thank you for your vibrant engagement with our content and for sharing your points of view. Please note that we have switched to a new commenting system. To leave comments, you will need to register. We are working on some adjustments so if you have questions or suggestions feel free to send them to feedback@rttv.ru. Please check our commenting policy

SHOW COMMENTS

19 Oct, 2025 14:02 / Home / World News

Trump putting more pressure on Ukraine than Russia – WSJ

The US has considered punitive steps to push Moscow toward a peace deal, but has hesitated to use them, the paper said

US President Donald Trump and Vladimir Zelensky. © Andrew Harnik/Getty Images

The Nobel that wasn't Trump's: Why Oslo chose a Venezuelan rebel over a peacemaker

FEATURE

Podcasts

All podcasts

-
Euro leaders and the humiliation fetish
 0:00 / 29:41
-
Trade or fade? Hung Son Nguyen, resident of the Diplomatic Academy of Vietnam
 0:00 / 29:9

US President Donald Trump is placing more pressure on Ukraine than on Russia as he prepares for a new summit with President Vladimir Putin, the Wall Street Journal reported on Friday, citing sources.

Several American officials told the outlet that they have observed Trump's "hesitation to push Putin, who has shown little interest in concessions needed for a deal." One WSJ source noted that "the White House has put more pressure on Kiev than on Moscow."

The WSJ said Washington has weighed additional measures to increase pressure on Moscow, but so far has stopped short of applying them. This comes as Putin and Trump held a phone call on Thursday, during which the two agreed to hold a summit in Budapest, Hungary, in the coming weeks.

Hoping to build diplomatic momentum, US officials are reportedly planning a series of lower-level meetings with their Russian counterparts, to be led by Secretary of State Marco Rubio – rather than special envoy Read more: Trump-Zelensky Steve Witkoff — a meeting was 'bad' – Axios change viewed positively by Ukrainian and EU diplomats, according to the paper. Western media tend to view Rubio as more hawkish on Russia than Witkoff, who has held several face-to-face rounds of talks with Putin this year.

Following the call with Putin, Trump received Ukraine's Vladimir Zelensky at the White House on Friday, with talks revolving around potential deliveries of long-range Tomahawk missiles to Kiev. According to Axios, however, the meeting was "bad," and Zelensky left without any promises of deliveries.

Moscow has warned against supplying Tomahawks to Ukraine, arguing they would "not change the situation on the battlefield" but would "severely undermine the prospects of a peaceful settlement" and harm Russia-US relations.

Following the Trump-Zelensky meeting, the US president said that he had told both the Ukrainian leader and Putin that "it is time to stop the killing, and make a DEAL." "They should stop where they are... Let both claim Victory, let History decide!" he said.

Russia has consistently praised the Trump administration over what it described as a genuine desire to find a peaceful settlement to the conflict and as attempts to understand its root causes.

You can share this story on social media:

Donald Trump, Russia-Ukraine conflict

Dear readers! Thank you for your vibrant engagement with our content and for sharing your points of view. Please note that we have switched to a new commenting system. To leave comments, you will need to register. We are working on some adjustments so if you have questions or suggestions feel free to send them to feedback@rttv.ru. Please check our commenting policy

SHOW COMMENTS

19 Oct, 2025 14:01 / Home / World News

Israeli security minister calls for return to war in Gaza

Ben Gvir's demand comes after Israel accused Hamas of violating the ceasefire brokered earlier this month

FILE PHOTO. A resident gets upset as she walks amid near the rubble of residential buildings after Israeli airstrikes at al-Zahra neighborhood in Gaza Strip.

© Mustafa Hassona/Anadolu via Getty Images

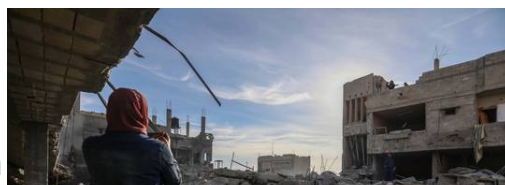

Israel's National Security Minister Ben Gvir has called for the resumption of military operations in Gaza following alleged violations by Hamas of the ceasefire reached earlier this month.

According to the Israel Defense Forces (IDF), militants fired an anti-tank missile and shot at Israeli troops operating in Rafah, in the southern Gaza Strip on Sunday. Israel responded with several airstrikes on what it called terror targets.

"I call on the prime minister to order the IDF to renew full-scale fighting in the Strip at full strength," Gvir said in a statement on Sunday. "The false belief that Hamas will change its ways, or will even abide by the agreement it signed, is proving...to be dangerous to our security. This Nazi terrorist organization must be destroyed completely and the sooner the better."

Israel and Hamas agreed to a tentative ceasefire in early October under US President Donald Trump's 20-point peace plan.

The first phase called for Hamas to release all remaining Israeli hostages within 72 hours in exchange for Palestinian prisoners. On Monday, the group freed the last 20 living captives and returned the remains of 12 others. Hamas said it had met its obligations but faced difficulties retrieving all bodies due to Gaza's devastation and continued Israeli control in some areas.

READ MORE: Israel strikes Gaza – IDF

Israel has accused Hamas of not doing enough to return the remains of 16 captives, while the sides have traded accusations of ceasefire violations.

Later on Sunday, Prime Minister Netanyahu instructed the IDF "to take firm action against terror targets in the Gaza Strip," according to a statement from his office. The statement did not clarify whether it meant the IDF would resume military operations in full.

READ MORE: Hamas returns two more bodies to Israel

Senior Hamas official Izzat al-Risheq, also on Sunday, said in a statement that the group remains committed to the ceasefire, accusing the Israeli “occupation” of violating it and “seeking excuses for its crimes.” The group’s military wing denied involvement in the Rafah incident, saying it lost ties with factions in the area last March.

“We have no information about any incidents or clashes in Rafah, which is under [Israeli] occupation control,” the statement noted.

You can share this story on social media:

Donald Trump, Gaza Strip, Israel,

Israeli Defense Forces – IDF, State of Palestine

Dear readers! Thank you for your vibrant engagement with our content and for sharing your points of view. Please note that we have switched to a new commenting system. To leave comments, you will need to register. We are working on some adjustments so if you have questions or suggestions feel free to send them to feedback@rttv.ru. Please check our commenting policy

SHOW COMMENTS

العربية ESP PYC DE FR RS

WHO TV

RT

A

RUPTLY

RT Academy

 RT News App